

ISE CASE STUDY: Corporate Training

For their new employee training facility, a national financial services company selected The All-in-One Desk from ISE.

Company trainers and I/T support staff conducted an on-site evaluation of The All-in-One Desk, and each department found that the desk had many advantages.

For the trainers, the ability to stay in the same classroom for lectures and computer training was an important advantage. And for presentations and lectures, the ability to store the monitor away was very helpful, in order to have a clear line-of-sight to the participants.

I/T liked the ability to get the computer off the desktop, as well as the desk's store-away wire management. Both departments found that remote control desk operation would be very helpful in managing over one hundred desks.
